Title: Estate Fun Journey, Upper Ngau Tau Kok Estate

Daughter Mum, here's a cha chan teng (teahouse)

 Why don't we eat here?

Mother You greedy girl! This isn't a cha chan teng

 It's Reminiscence Corner in the Upper Ngau Tau Kok Estate

Daughter What is Reminiscence Corner?

Mother It's a place for residents to relax

Super Reminiscence Corner
 Vignettes of life in the old neighbourhood Collective memories
 Items all donated by old residents
 Heritage Gallery

Mother The photos on the walls show daily life for former residents

 It has many collective memories of the old neighbourhood

Daughter What are these, Mum?

VO They are very old cameras

 These cameras are probably even older than your Mum!

 These vintage items were all donated by old residents

 Most residents of the new estate moved here from the old one

 Many had lived in the old estate for decades

 To increase their sense of belonging a Heritage Gallery has been set up to preserve things from the old estate and help people reminisce about the good old days

Super Beautifies environment & lowers temperature
Extra seats installed
Leisure facilities added
Abundant plants and flowers

Daughter This garden is so pretty, Mum!

VO This estate's greening ratio is 30%

 Greening not only beautifies the environment it also lowers the temperature

 Residents suggested many of the features here such as extra seats leisure facilities for the elderly and the abundant plants and flowers

 The aim is for everyone to live more comfortably

Daughter It really is very comfortable here!

 Mum, can we stay here a bit longer?

Mother But we're having yum-cha with your great-aunt

 Why don't we come here and play next time!

Daughter Okay!

Mother Hi, Great-aunt!

Daughter Hi, Great-aunt!

Mother Let's have yum-cha over there!
