Title: Want to get away? Not a chance!

- Super: Want to get away? Not a chance!
- Housing Abuser 1: What a coincidence! Are you on your way to return your public housing flat to the Housing Department?
- Housing Abuser 2: Actually I have moved out already, but the flat is too good to give up
... but then, staff from the Housing Department came over and found nobody home. They conducted an investigation and eventually recovered the flat
- Housing Abuser 2: I smelled something fishy for quite some time, what with all these goods constantly moving in and out of your flat
- Housing Abuser 4: Market rents are so high, so I decided to use the flat to run my business and as a warehouse ... but now, I don't even have a place to live!
- Housing Abuser 2: I've bought a flat and then rent out my public housing flat. Didn't they say that no one would know about that?
- Housing Abuser 1: I never thought that the Housing Department could track me down!
- Housing Abuser 3: This is all your fault, telling me to declare less income and assets but that violated the Housing Ordinance and can be subjected to fines and imprisonment!
- Housing Protector: You selfish oafs! You didn't return the flat for the needy who are still waiting even when you no longer live in it

Housing Protector: Fortunately, we have eyes and ears everywhere, working hard to gather evidence

Housing Protector: You abusers had better pack it in!

Housing Protector: Let's protect public housing resources together, report any suspected tenancy abuse case immediately!
