

Happy Green Home

To promote greening in public housing by creating a healthy, pleasant and green living environment, the Horticulture Unit actively organises a variety of greening activities, including the Community Greening Programme, the Community Garden Programme and the Chinese New Year Citrus Plants Replanting Scheme while continues to conduct landscape improvement projects in housing estates.

Landscape Improvement Project

To create a more comfortable and greener living environment, we select 20 estates each year for landscaping, including the planting of suitable flowering plants that blend well with the design of estates to provide a pleasant, healthy and green environment for residents, thereby enhancing their quality of life.

Lam Tin Estate

Tin Ching Estate

Lok Wah South Estate

Hung Fuk Estate

Happy Green Home

Community Gardens

The Community Garden Programme is launched in 10 selected public housing estates every year to increase residents' awareness of environmental protection and sense of belonging to their housing estates, and to strengthen cohesion in the community.

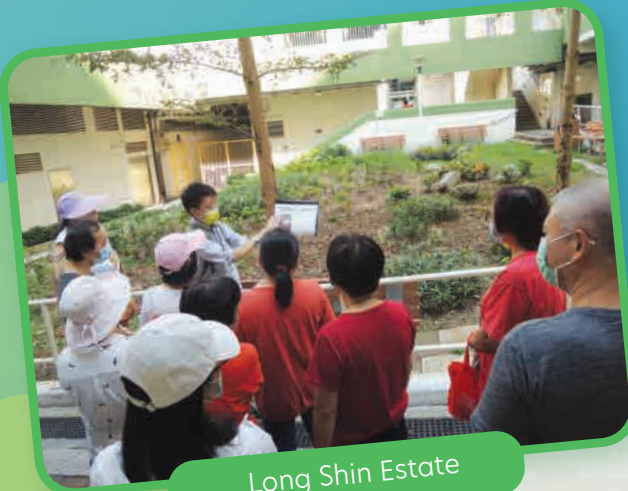

Happy Green Home

Green Promotion

To enable residents to know more about greening in housing estates and experience the fun of planting, we distributed about 3,000 "seed packets" to the residents of 20 public housing estates that participated in the "2022/23 Community Greening Promotion Scheme". Residents could make use of environmentally friendly ceramic carbon balls in growing potted plants. In just a few days, tiny seeds grew into green "hair", which, together with the amusing faces on the pots, cheered people up. Also, DIY scented sachets were distributed to residents to give them a feel of nature at home.

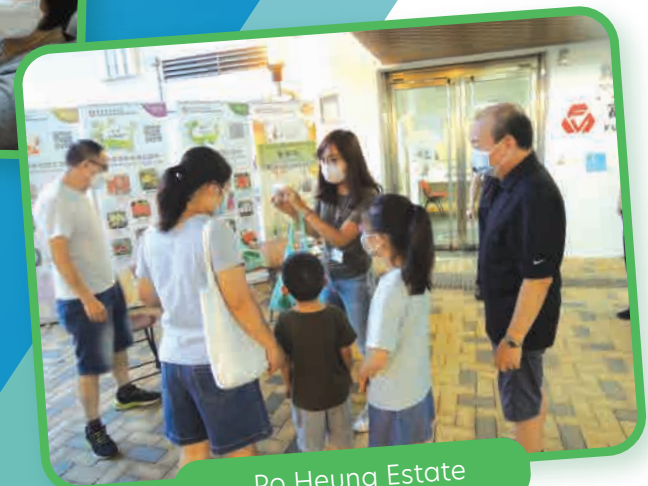

Long Shin Estate

Nga Ning Court

Ceramic carbon balls potted plants

Po Heung Estate