The Hong Kong Housing Authority (HA) and the Occupational Safety and Health Council (OSHC) join hands to organise the Site Safety Forum for Works Contracts and Property Services Contracts for the fourth consecutive year. During the Forum, experts in the construction, maintenance and repairs, property management and cleansing services professions are invited to explore the best practices and share with each other their experiences and insights regarding the enhancement of site safety awareness as well as the promotion of a safety culture in the industry.

This year's Forum focuses on three topics, namely, the "Safe Working Cycle", "Undertaking Cleansing Work Safely at Heights" and "Safe Home Safe Work – the Management of Safety and Health in Public Housing Estates". Through video presentations, seminars and experience-sharing sessions, the Forum provides the participants with useful information on occupational safety and health.

The Site Safety Forum for Works Contracts and Property Services Contracts provides the industry with an invaluable opportunity to exchange experiences in a comprehensive manner. The Forum not only fosters partnership between practitioners in the industry and HA to ensure a safer, healthier and more harmonious workplace and living environment, but also entrenches the safety culture.
