I want to ask questions about ISO45001 I would like to ask if there is any idea that for a medium-sized management company now using 18001 how much time and money does it require to switch to ISO45001 successfully?
Is the three-year grace period sufficient?
What does the property management company need to prepare now?
Thank you

Firstly, thank you for your question I believe that you come from a company with OHSAS 18001 ISO 45001 has never been executed before The first thing to do is to let your staff learn this standard Any certification requires a clear record 45001 requires at least three-month records so as to prove you are using this system As for OHSAS 18001, although there are many areas different from that of 45001 the change in the operation is not too much do not need to worry too much Three-year grace period is considered enough As for the budget, we can't answer Because we don't interfere with the investment amount of company

There is one last question

Mr. CHEUNG

from the Occupational Safety & Health Council

You mentioned that the worker's uniform has

insufficient retroreflective performance

But that uniform is the one designed by the Construction Industry Council (CIC) the light blue one

If it is not enough

how can we improve and supplement it?

The CIC's uniform is designed mainly to resist heat stress that belt may probably be a 3M belt

That is used for the headlights

It means when the vehicle's headlight shines on it it will become reflective

What we are talking about now is a high risk activity – lifting operation

Whether the crane operator or the gang of lifting personnel can see and probably know where they are So its function is not like this

In fact, it is very simple

The Housing Department has requirements for reflective clothing

Reflective clothing that meets the requirements of the Housing Department is already acceptable

Everyone can refer to it the Housing Department has specified the requirement of the Housing Department is very close to the Highways Department but the colour is different

We can't wear that one?

Because the one in the Construction Industry Council is not a reflective vest That is a work uniform recommended by CIC However, it is not a reflective vest

The seminar ends here today, thank you Thank you for the speeches of the guests I hope that we can meet everyone again in the seminar in autumn

Thank you for watching
